

Brenda Renfroe Costume Designer

Many years ago Brenda decided that film/theatre was her passion. She found her niche in Costume Design.

The University of Hawaii, Brenda majored in Drama and Theatre, where Brenda performed as an actor and singer as well worked in the Costume shop.

She left the warm sands of Hawaii and moved to the icy streets of New York City and there sought work as an actor and singer before settling into Costume Design by designing her first show "Brigadoon" with the Village Light Opera Group. That led to such classic shows as "The Music Man", "The Mikado", "Show Boat", "Picnic", "Pirates of Penzance", "The Most Happy Fella", and "Kismet".

In NYC, she costumed over 50 off-off Broadway and Community theatre productions acquiring varied experience in both contemporary and period Costume Design and fabrication. Her experience expanded throughout a broad range of entertainment media, which includes Film – "The Secret", Commercials, Industrials, Showcases and Fashion.

From Florida to Hawaii to New York City to Connecticut, she has pursued a unique dual career that has supported and enhanced her work as a Costume Designer. She has 12 years experience as a Project Lead in Information Technology in which she has extensive knowledge of PCs, LANs, software applications, and server technology.

She has created her own business – Sew En Vogue where she continues to hone her skills as a Designer and Seamstress covering an array of projects from Home Décor, alterations to Bridals.
